ABOUT TOWN.

—Out of 36 voters in Canal street, 20 for Blaine and Logan.

—William Atuo of Chatham, will have charge of the ticket and telegraph office during the absence of Mr. Cooper.

—Rev. John Rudolph returned home from Germany on the steamer Gettett on Sunday, p.m. He reports the home voyage as being a very rough one.

—Dr. J. E. Wilson's patients will notice of his card in the paper, that he may be found at his office between the hours of 12 m. and 1.30 p.m. Also at the regular hours as advertised.

—Mr. H. N. Tower, the father of Mr. F. N. Tower, died suddenly on Wednesday morning at the residence of Miss Mencham, on Beach street, where he has been boarding during the present summer.

—The lecture on "Tom Hood," by Rev. S. W. Duffield, announced for Wednesday evening, October 15, has been postponed to Friday evening the 17th. The lecture will be delivered in Westminster Church. Admission 35 cents.

—During the campaign, Bourne & Hasley, Printers and Stationers, of Cortlandt street, N. Y., are prepared to fill all orders for printing for political purposes at short notice, and parties desiring such work would do well to give them a trial: see advertisement.

—Mr. C. Cooper left Friday morning for a two weeks' trip to Michigan, where he will visit his cousin, James F. Cooper, manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company at East Saginaw. He will also make a short visit to Niagara Falls on the return trip.

—A special meeting of the Essex County Court will be held at the residence of Richard H. Coates, Esq., Gregory avenue, Orange, on Monday evening, October 13, at 8 o'clock. As matters of unusual interest will come up for discussion a full attendance is particularly desired.

—On Saturday, October 4, the third and last game of ball occurred between the Silver Stars of Montclair and the Mystics of Bloomfield, and resulted in a victory for the latter. This is the second game won by the Mystics out of the three played, and they are therefore entitled to the pennant.

—The following are the names of the officers of Eureka Lodge, Knights of Pythias, just organized: John H. Lockwood, C.; C. Lewis Johnson, V. C.; Arthur Sprague, P.; John Jenkins, M. A.; Charles Kimble, K. R. S.; Charles M. Lockwood, M. E.; Wm. Baldwin, M. E.; Wm. Linder, P. C.; Trustees: Arthur Sprague, John H. Lockwood, Lewis Johnson.

—There was a man in our town, and he was wondrous wise, for when he marked his prices down he then did advertise. And when he saw his trade increase, with all his might and main, he marked still lower every price and advertised again. And when he advertised again, his rivals loudly swore, to see folks rush with might and main to patronize his store. And while they sat in solitude and saw him custom win, that man behind the counter stood and raked the shovels in. And when he raked the shovels in and saw his fortune rising, he took a goodly lot of tin, and kept on advertising. Each week a generous sum he'd sink and demonstrate full plain the more one pays for printers ink, the greater is his gain. —Hans Krause.

—Mr. J. F. Brown, of Franklin Hill, is making an extensive and prolonged tour in the south and west.

—George H. Cooper, of this place, has purchased the newspaper and stationery business of J. H. Mooney, of Belleville, and will move there.

—Miss Nettie Weideman, daughter of Mrs. Peter Hann, fell in alighting from a buggy on Wednesday, and was severely hurt in the spine.

—Miss Williams has left Glen Ridge, where she has been spending the summer, for her home in England. She sailed in the Nevada, Tuesday.

—Nasaka Katayata, a young Japanese Prince, was in Bloomfield one day this week, visiting American friends. The prince is said to have the most charming manners possible.

—The Rev. S. W. Duffield, preached the installation sermon for the Rev. Mr. Pack, at Closter, N. J., Thursday evening. Mr. Pack was formerly a member of Mr. Duffield's church at Altoona, Penn.

—Reading persons in a town paper is a good deal like looking in other men's windows when their lamps are lighted and their shades drawn up—the spectator returns home and shuts his own blinds, speedily.

—There will be a German Republican mass meeting in Library Hall, on October 17th, addressed by Mayor Carl Leutz and others. All Germans in Bloomfield and vicinity are invited to attend.

—The anniversary of the Sunday school of the First Presbyterian Church, will take place to-morrow evening. The exercises will consist of the usual reports of school officers, singing, and an address by Dr. C. S. Stockton, of Newark.

—We learn that the Truck Company reached Middletown all right and that the parade was very fine. The weather was magnificent and the Bloomfield boys showed off to good advantage. A more detailed account of the affair will be given next week.

—We are unable this week to present any report of the "banner raising" last evening. We understand that Hon. Herman Lehlbach, Hon. F. S. Fish and C. N. Boyce, Jr., Esq., were the speakers, and that the affair was quite successful.

—Some people are ingenious in their methods of repairing sidewalks, but when many pedestrians on Franklin street found themselves, several days this week, traversing an ash heap forty feet long with no visible side issue, very little admiration for such original devices was expressed.

—A Fair and Festival for the benefit of the Baptist Sunday-school Building Fund, will be held on Friday afternoon and evening, October 17, at the residence of Mrs. M. L. Ellwood, on Spruce street, one door from Monroe place, to which a cordial invitation is extended to all. All fancy articles, as well as cake, cream, confectionery, etc., sold at reasonable prices. Admission, five cents.

—The colored Blaine and Logan Club, of Bloomfield, carried a transparency in the parade at Orange on Tuesday evening, on which the name of Blaine was spelled without the e. A gentleman asked one of the rank and file how that happened. He answered, "That is all right, boss, you see we had a man that pointed that sign has so many e's in his own name, he had none left for Mr. Blaine."

—Last Wednesday afternoon several very young ladies could be seen canvassing one of our streets for money for a chapel. "What chapel?" it was asked. "A Methodist chapel." "Where?" "I don't know," said Nellie, "where is it?" It might have been a Methodist chapel, but upon looking at the hands and faces of the maidens the thought would come perhaps the dime deposited was as much needed to replenish the stock of molasses candy and raisins as to build an unknown chapel.

—The Autumn Leaf Excursion to Mauch Chunk and Glen Orono on Thursday last week, was enjoyed by a number of people from our village. Thirteen well-filled cars testified to the popularity and cheapness of the trip. The excursionists were composed of a quiet and orderly class, and all the arrangements were such as to please the most fastidious. The ride on the Switch back and the Glen are the chief attractions. At the latter place a diminutive representation of a coal-mine and cracker has recently been placed. With many opportunities for short trips an and about New York, none will be found more delightful than that to the mountain regions in and about Mauch Chunk. Excursions on the D. L. & W. Railroad are especially convenient, as connection is made at Roseville.

The Parade at Orange.

The Bloomfield Republican Battalion, consisting of six companies, the Cavalry, Capt. Geo. M. Cadmus, Lehlbach Engineer Corps, Capt. J. Cadmus, Pioneers, Capt. C. M. Robotham, Watessing Blaine and Logan Club, Capt. A. P. Quimby, Light Guards (col'd), Capt. Thomson, Republican Battery, Capt. J. Foster, numbering over two hundred men in all, under command of John Handy, assisted by Mr. Hayes, took part in the parade at Orange on Tuesday evening, and received much attention and applause on the line of march, for their fine appearance and good marching. The boys got home about one o'clock, pretty well tired out with the long march. They think the committee should make some arrangement for transportation when they are ordered to parade out of town.

A Pleasant Wedding.

At the residence of Mr. J. M. Bancroft, on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. S. W. Duffield united in marriage Mr. H. A. Cozens, of Albany, N. Y., and Miss M. Alice Richardson, of Bloomfield. The parlor was beautifully decorated with flowers and autumn foliage, and the gentleman and lady were married by the Episcopal ceremony. Mr. Bancroft giving away the bride. Refreshments were afterwards served and a number of the guests, with the bride and groom, departed for the half-past three train on the D. L. & W. Railroad. The happy couple escaped amid a shower of rice which took the place of the traditional old slipper, and is supposed to be quite as effective. To add to the pleasure of the occasion, the weather was in its most agreeable mood and the best wishes of the company could hardly have been anything finer. Mr. Cozens, who is Examiner of Corporations, of the State of New York, returns to his duties at Albany, after a brief wedding tour, which includes Boston and Mr. Desoret.

The Seminary Lectures.

Dr. Knox announced at the opening of his lecture on Tuesday evening that by the courtesy of the First Church, their Sunday-school rooms are placed at the disposal of the Seminary for the present course of lectures. This was good news, for the Seminary accommodations were decidedly limited by the size of the audience. Henceforward, therefore, the lectures will be delivered in that place.

The walls of the room were ornamented with maps and charts of Essex county; of Bloomfield and Belleville townships; of ancient Newark; of the vicinity of New York and the State of New Jersey; with a drawing of the first Newark meeting-house, 1668-1708. The lecture was occupied with the preliminaries of the history of this township and neighborhood. The audience learned that for one hundred and thirty, or really one hundred and fifty-two years, Bloomfield had been a part of Newark. Newark and Elizabeth used themselves to be connected, having been preceded by much the same class of people from New England. These colonists brought over in their vessels, down the sound and up Newark bay, their entire religious as well as secular system. Newark was to be a church-town. Only church members had the right to vote. Town meeting and church meeting were blended. The title to property was acquired from the Indians as well as from the English proprietary Lords.

Bergen and other portions to the north of the tract thus occupied, were settled by the Dutch. These and the Puritans affiliated in their love of liberty and in their religious belief. Newark thus started about 1666, in the State called New Jersey, by way of compliment to Philip Carteret, its Governor, since he had been one of the last to defend the Island of Jersey against the Parliament. Essex county was erected in 1682. Bloomfield being between Dutch and Puritans was affected by both influences to some extent. Newark was one of the last—if not the very last—of the attempts to unite church and State in a town on the Puritan basis.

Dr. Knox then sketched the life of this church-town for the nine years to 1675, giving many a nice incident from the old record books. The colonists came from Milford, New Haven, and from Branford and Guilford in Connecticut. The salary of the first minister, Rev. Abraham Pierson, was £80 with one pound of butter for each month's cow in the town. His well was dug at the public cost. His salary was in all kinds of current commodities.

Of the Elizabeth code of laws, framed by the general assent of the State about this time, it had been said that "Puritan austerity was tempered with Dutch indifference," and the result was a series of statutes which were merely itself. This mild and liberal policy extended to Newark, to the encouragement of those manufactures which have since enlarged and enriched the town.

The speaker here took up and traced the history of the friction between Governor Carteret and the colonists, beginning February 3, 1669, and not coming to an end for many years. The result was to solidify the Newark people into a compact of liberty-loving band who, when occasion came, were fully prepared to defend their rights against any English usurpation. But they were peaceful and patient, and this history showed them developing into the proper attitude by pacific measures.

As to the occupancy of the lands north of Newark, Dr. Knox said that he had been enabled to consult the records at Perth Amboy which gave land owners and locations for our own neighborhood as early as 1675-6. The earliest name is Jasper Crane, who is found at the head of 2d River — a large, and the teacher, as to these practices. Would it not be well to toss in the powder now, so that it might be the official results of the election are declared? — B. B.

Withdrawal of Mr. Weeks.

Having been the only suggestion for the nomination of Mr. F. H. Weeks, as a candidate from Bloomfield for the office of Surrogate, and having afterwards been urged by friends to become a candidate myself, from Bloomfield, for the office of Register, I have after due reflection, in order to further the interests of Mr. Weeks, as the poor candidate from Bloomfield, determined to withdraw from the canvass. I consider myself greatly indebted to the many friends who have taken so active an interest in my behalf. — WILLIAM R. WEEKS.
